This product is made from recycled green waste and food waste. Cedar Grove's manufacturing process involves minimizing, screening, and removing inert particles and pieces that are commonly found in commercially composted feedstock. Some level of inert materials may still be present in this product after it is cleaned and processed. These materials will not harm your plants, vegetables, or landscape. Help keep our compost clean by keeping bags, bottles, and plant tags out of your yard bins. Thank you for using a recycled product and closing the loop!

This product is made from recycled green waste and food waste. Cedar Grove's manufacturing process involves minimizing, screening, and removing inert particles and pieces that are commonly found in commercially composted feedstock. Some level of inert materials may still be present in this product after it is cleaned and processed. These materials will not harm your plants, vegetables, or landscape. Help keep our compost clean by keeping bags, bottles, and plant tags out of your yard bins. Thank you for using a recycled product and closing the loop!
